Preschoolers (Three to Five)

If you are concerned your preschool age child is developing or learning differently and reside in Waterford, please contact the district's Department of Student Support Services by calling (856) 767- 8293 extension 3018. A child study team case manager will be made available to discuss your concerns and questions. For some guidelines for informally observing your child's development the NJ Dept. of Education provides a helpful parent brochure found here: Child Development Checklist. The child study team conducts evaluations on children, ages three through 21, free of charge. Eligible children receive special education and related services through the district's Department of Student Support Services, and to the maximum extent appropriate with children who are not disabled. If you would like to refer your child, please send a written request with your child's full name, age, birth date, address, and a brief statement of your concerns to: Waterford Township School District Department of Special Services 1106 Old White Horse Pike Waterford, NJ 08089. Once your referral is received the child study team will schedule a meeting with you within 20 days to discuss and determine if an evaluation is warranted.

School Age Children

Children already attending school have the greatest opportunity to be identified when educational concerns are present. School staff and your child's principal can seek support for a student through their school based Intervention and Referral Service (I&RS) teams. Internal district forms and procedures are in place for this to occur. School based I & RS teams develop interventions in the school setting and general education classroom to assist students experiencing difficulties.

The district also provides targeted Title I services through our tiered system of support. Title I programs provide supplemental support in ELA and/or Math in order to target specific student needs. Student assessment data is reviewed and teacher recommendations are considered as a way to help identify children who may need Title I services. Services can begin in Kindergarten as a way to intervene as early as possible.

There are times when a student is not responsive to interventions provided by the general education staff and a child study team referral may be warranted. A parent may refer their child to the child study team by sending a written request. Please include your address, child's full name, age, grade, teacher's name, school, phone number, and a brief statement of your concerns in the letter. All written requests should be mailed to the address above and include a parent signature. NOTE: Email requests are not accepted for referrals.
